Good afternoon all,
Just wanted to follow up with a few updates related to the conference. #1: Registration will go live this week. I will share the link and a flyer/qr code to share so we can distribute for folks to register. Registration is $225 individually and will be used to cover the costs of operating the conference including catering, room reservations and honorariums for keynote speakers.

#2: All rooms are reserved and we have space for a total of 13 breakout sessions (6/7 in morning, 6/7 in the afternoon). All sessions will be recorded with facilitator approval and will be shared with all conference attendees so that even if folks miss a session they wanted to attend, they will have access to the recording.

At this point, we need to move forward with confirming keynotes and workshop facilitators.

It would be extremely helpful if folks can sign up to reach out to the following folks and ask if they would be able to attend and facilitate a workshop (or keynote in the case of Dr. Burton)

Workshops:

- 1) Defending against challenges to Ethnic Studies Panel (Sean Arce, XITO)
  - [Contact: Jason]
